

JOB TITLE: LEGAL RESEARCHER - EUROPE
REPORTING TO: Katherine Elliott, Editor-in-Chief
JOB PURPOSE: The Legal Researcher - Europe will research and produce thought-provoking, high-quality legal articles and reports relating to current women's rights issues within Europe.
SALARY: Volunteer
BENEFITS: This is a fantastic opportunity to develop your skills. You will be part and exposed to a fast-growing network of ambitious dedicated professionals.

ABOUT GLOBAL LEGAL REVIEW

As a brainchild of International Women's Initiative (IWI), Global Legal Review was established as a means to further aid women seeking answers and change to their circumstances. We are a team of dedicated and passionate remotely-based volunteers, striving towards our common vision of equality and gender justice.

Our work predominantly focuses on raising awareness of women's rights issues across the globe through legal research, reports and lobbying efforts. We aim to not only educate the international community on the status of women's rights abuse through our research and lobbying efforts, but also to empower and support those women who wish to seek justice and accountability through legal mechanisms. PERFORMED REMOTELY

PRINCIPAL RESPONSIBILITIES

- Reporting directly to the Editor-in-Chief of the Global Legal Review, and working alongside the Europe team, you will research and produce thought-provoking, high-quality legal articles and reports relating to current women's rights issues within Europe. These articles and reports will be subsequently uploaded to the GLR website, as well as distributed to our partners and used as part of GLR advocacy and lobbying initiatives.
- Liaise with a team of Legal Researchers and Editors to ensure a positive, proactive and supportive team dynamic, centred on open dialogue.
- Work according to the team schedule to ensure the timely delivery of our objectives and a consistently high-quality output.

REQUIREMENTS

- Minimum academic qualification: undergraduate degree in law, international development, human rights or a similar social science field.
- A postgraduate qualification would be considered an advantage.
- Experience in conducting legal research, and writing reports for a variety of audiences on human rights issues relating to women's rights, especially in the context of Europe.
- Fluent in English.
- Partnerships and/or outreach experience within a Charity/ NGO setting.
- Passionate about women's rights and gender equality.
- Attention to detail and ability to work within strict, often conflicting, deadlines.
- Ability to work in a team environment.
- Computer skills- confident user of Office applications, Google Docs.
- Able to provide a minimum commitment of 10 hours per week

INFORMATION

To apply, please forward a CV (max. 3 Pages) and cover letter detailing your relevant experience, reasons for applying and availability to: Ms. Khan at: hr@globallegalreview.org, and Cc: katherine@globallegalreview.org

(Applications will be reviewed until the position is filled)

